Generations come together to discuss children’s books

London 24

By JAMEELA COLLOMON

comment on this story with short ends on 17 June

The council’s consultation ended on 2 July 2014, but the report’s conclusions have been published. The Green Paper on Children’s Services, which is due to reach its final stage next year, is due to result in the creation of a new Chief Officer for Children’s Services. The council’s consultation is now planned to start in September, with a ‘listening exercise’ to be held during the summer. The council’s consultation is now planned to start in September, with a ‘listening exercise’ to be held during the summer.

London Evening Standard

by JAMEELA COLLOMON

comment on this story with short ends on 17 June

The council’s consultation ended on 2 July 2014, but the report’s conclusions have been published. The Green Paper on Children’s Services, which is due to reach its final stage next year, is due to result in the creation of a new Chief Officer for Children’s Services. The council’s consultation is now planned to start in September, with a ‘listening exercise’ to be held during the summer.